At Faber Novella, we seek to preserve the art of Italian shoe making, protect the country's unrivaled savoir-faire, and in doing so, treat our customers to the true finesse of Italian craftsmanship.

In times when renowned brands are moving production further East, we are planting our roots in Italy by working with local businesses, suppliers and designers in the most transparent manner.

Each Faber Novella shoe is individually hand-crafted in a small, family-run atelier in Vigevano that has been producing premium quality shoes for the past 30 years, using only the finest Italian leather.
