The unavoidable CO2 generated from making this paper has been reduced to net zero through the purchase of carbon offset credits in the Andapathi wind project in India.
The project reduces CO2 emissions by displacing electricity which would otherwise have been drawn primarily from fossil fuel power stations.
The project also contributes to the local economy and livelihood of residents through job creation.
This carbon saving is the equivalent of 2037 square metres of forest carbon sequestration for 1 year.
This carbon saving is the equivalent of 17,761 car miles prevented.
